

New ethical decision-making framework to support pharmacists and pharmacy teams

9 April 2020

The Pharmaceutical Society NI welcomes a new ethical decision-making framework, published by the RPS, to support pharmacists and pharmacy teams faced with making difficult decisions linked to the exceptional impact of Covid-19.

The ethical decision-making framework was developed by a diverse group, chaired by Dr Matthew Boyd of the Pharmacy Law and Ethics Association. The group included input from the Pharmaceutical Society NI.

The guidance can be used to support colleagues involved in strategic planning, or front-line roles and is for use by pharmacists in all settings.

More information is available on the RPS website.